2011-2012 President's Report

Community helps CFCC “Top Out” Union Station Building

On January 24, 2012, hundreds of people gathered at CFCC’s downtown Wilmington Campus to celebrate the “topping out” of the Union Station building.

Once completed, CFCC’s new Union Station building will be 250,000 square feet and include a student services center, expanded classroom space, labs for health care training and a conference center on the top floor. The facility is expected to be completed in the late spring of 2013.

Cape Fear Community College Vision Statement

"Cape Fear Community College: Building a future-oriented world-class workforce and a community of lifelong learners in partnership with regional businesses and agencies. Imagine the possibilities!"

From the President

It is my privilege to have the opportunity to present the 2011-2012 Annual Report to the Community on behalf of Cape Fear Community College.

The many successes included in this report are the direct result of the efforts of the students, faculty, and staff combined with the guidance and support from our CFCC Board of Trustees, elected officials, the CFCC Foundation Board and donors and advisory committee members from the local community.

It is an exciting time for the college and the greater Cape Fear region. The demand for job training and higher education remains strong. Last year, CFCC provided educational opportunities to over 30,000 individuals and worked with dozens of area businesses of all sizes to offer customized training to ensure a better prepared and skilled workforce. CFCC students and instructors were recognized for outstanding achievement in a variety of fields. In spite of the ongoing economic challenges, the CFCC Foundation raised $1.3 million for student scholarships through private donations.

Thanks to the ongoing commitment from voters of New Hanover County, CFCC is moving forward with a $164 million campus development program, which will enable the college to add new facilities to expand the services at the downtown Wilmington Campus and at the North Campus in Castle Hayne. With support from Pender County, plans are progressing to design and build a new campus in Surf City.

This annual report contains just a few of the highlights from the past year. To find out more about what YOUR community college provides, schedule a visit to one or more of the campus locations.

Sincerely,

CFCC meets all performance measures

In the 2012 Critical Success Factors Report, Cape Fear Community College was among 27 of the 58 colleges that met all seven of the performance measures required by the N.C. Community College System:

- Passing Rates on Licensure and Certification Examinations
- Performance of College Transfer Students
- Passing Rates of Students in Developmental Courses
- Success Rates of Developmental Students in Subsequent College-Level Courses
- Satisfaction of Program Completers and Non-Completers
- Curriculum Student Retention, Graduation, and Transfer
- Client Satisfaction with Customized Training

Licensure Exams	CFCC: 93%	N.C. system average: 87%
Performance of college transfer students	CFCC: 89%	N.C. system average: 88%
Passing rates of developmental students	CFCC: 82%	N.C. system average: 80%
Student Satisfaction	CFCC: 97%	N.C. system average: 96%
Student retention, graduation and transfer	CFCC: 71%	N.C. system average: 67%

How well do CFCC transfer students perform compared to university students?

CFCC's Computer Networking program earns recognition from Cisco Systems

Cape Fear Community College was recently recognized by Cisco Systems, a multinational corporation that designs, manufactures and sells computer networking equipment.

The college received special recognition for serving as a certified Cisco Networking Academy for ten years.

Courses in the Cisco training are incorporated into CFCC's two-year computer information technology program, located at the college's North Campus. When all academy courses are completed, students are eligible to sit for the Cisco Certified Network Associate (CCNA) certification exam.

According to Melissa Watson, chair of CFCC's business technology department, most graduates of the college's computer information technology program choose to obtain this highly-regarded international networking certification, which greatly increases their chances of getting a job once they graduate.

"The CCNA certification gives Cape Fear graduates an extra edge in the pursuit of their career goals after leaving the college, since many area industries rely on Cisco networking systems within their organizations," Watson said.

With the CCNA certification Cape Fear graduates can go on to careers in fields such as network administrator, network engineer, or network specialist. These roles take advantage of the students' hands on knowledge and skills based on the installation of and maintenance of Cisco networking systems.

CFCC's Cisco Networking Academy students and staff receive a plaque from Cisco Systems for ten years of service.

"Basic Skills Plus" program gives students path to employment

Taneisha McCullough (at left) recently earned her GED and Nurse Aide I certificate through CFCC's new Basic Skills Plus program. The Basic Skills Plus program provides students with the opportunity to obtain their GED while at the same time completing Nurse Aide I or Air Conditioning, Heating and Refrigeration Certification. Students must demonstrate the academic ability and technical experience to enter the program. Tuition is waived by CFCC and students must attend a rigorous Monday through Friday, 40-hour a week schedule.

Since 2011, 89% of the Nurse Aide/GED graduates and 88% of the HVAC/GED graduates work in their field and/or attend college.

Phil Garwood, AKA "Dr. Rocks"

Phil "Dr. Rocks" Garwood wins annual teaching award

Known as "Dr. Rocks" around CFCC's campus, Phil Garwood is one of the most popular and well-known teachers at Cape Fear Community College. Each semester, students fill his classes because of Garwood's enthusiasm for teaching geology – the subject he has taught at the college for 20 years.

Garwood was selected as the 2011-2012 recipient of the Marilyn Goodman Anderson Endowed Award for Excellence in Teaching. The award is given annually to one teacher at CFCC for outstanding performance in the classroom. He was chosen above 80 other CFCC instructors who were nominated by students and faculty.

The Marilyn Goodman Anderson Endowed Award for Excellence in Teaching is awarded by the CFCC Foundation annually to an outstanding faculty member at CFCC. This prestigious award recognizes all aspects of excellence in teaching that fosters lifelong learning and success. The following aspects of teaching at Cape Fear Community College were considered in the nomination and selection process: positive impact on students' lives, teaching philosophy, and mastery of subject.

CFCC Cosmetology Program named "School of the Year"

Students from CFCC's cosmetology program won 17 awards, including "School of the Year" at the 2012 Association of Cosmetology Salon Professionals Competition in Myrtle Beach, S.C. on April 21.

Lady Sea Devils take the spotlight

Jaylyn High of CFCC's women's soccer team was named to the NJCAA All-American Team in 2011-12.

CFCC begins Women's Basketball program

2012 was the beginning of a new era of for athletics at CFCC. For the first time, women's basketball became part of the Sea Devils' athletic program. With Head Coach Lori Drake at the helm, the Lady Sea Devils promise lots of excitement for sports fans and great opportunities for students to enjoy and participate in quality athletics at CFCC.

CFCC Interior Design students sweep statewide design competition

Three students in CFCC's interior design program swept the 2012 Otto Zenke Student Design Competition by taking first, second and third place. The competition is an annual event sponsored by the Carolinas Chapter of the American Society of Interior Designers (ASID).

Over 90 students from two and four year colleges participated in the competition this year. CFCC students competed against students from the Art Institute of Charleston, Meredith College and Winthrop University, among others.

"Our senior design students worked on their projects for over eight weeks – including nights, weekends, and holidays. They really dedicated themselves to doing their very best, and it shows in their work," said Patricia Battershill, lead instructor of CFCC's interior design program.

The first place winner was Justin Nixon of CFCC. Justin won $1,000 for himself and $1,000 for the college. Jennifer Corson was second place winner and the recipient of $750, and Katelyn H. Trailkill won $500 as third place winner.

Each submission was judged on over 100 individual criteria including the concept statement, building codes and accessibility, space planning and meeting program requirements, furniture and finishes, lighting, building systems, complete drawings, and the presentation graphics.

The competition was judged by a panel three professional designers who are members of ASID.

CFCC students earn top scores

Last year, CFCC students scored above the state and national averages on certification examinations, with 10 programs achieving a 100% passing rate.

CFCC surgical technology program earns National Merit Award

Cape Fear Community College recently received the annual Merit Award from the National Board of Surgical Technology and Surgical Assisting (NBSTSA) for achieving a 100% graduate pass rate on the Certified Surgical Technologist (CST) examination for 2011.

The CST exam is required for employment within many local, state and national health care organizations. Graduates obtaining national certification as a CST demonstrate by examination understanding of the basic competencies for safe patient care in the operating room. The CST is widely recognized in the health care community as the foremost credential for surgical technologists in the nation.

According to the NBSTSA, the 2011 national average for passing the CST exam is 56.1%.

New parking deck features art gallery

A parking deck may seem like an unlikely place to find original paintings, photographs, sculptures and other works of art, but Cape Fear Community College's new Hanover St. parking deck offers just that.

The first floor of the college's new 1,200-car parking deck at the corner of Third and Hanover St. includes over 2,000 square feet of art gallery space.

Hundreds attended the grand opening of the parking deck and gallery on March 30, 2012. The event featured a juried art show with work by CFCC students in painting, drawing, printmaking, photography, metals and sculpture.

The gallery's unique location was chosen as a creative solution designed to meet an ordinance set by the City of Wilmington and fulfill a need from the CFCC Humanities and Fine Arts Department. The ordinance requires that parking decks include some storefront-type space at the street level. Up until now, there was no dedicated space for student artwork other than in the college library and in classroom building hallways.

"Having a professional gallery space for student artwork is very exciting. We have some incredibly talented students. The facility will allow student work to have much greater exposure," said Frank Carter, chair of CFCC's Humanities and Fine Arts Department.

Opening the gallery is the first stage of transforming the college's property on the 700 and 800 blocks of N. Third St. to a home for CFCC's growing humanities and fine arts department. The parking deck is located directly across from the site of the college's Humanities and Fine Arts Center.

Student Government Association President Hannah Peterson cuts the ribbon at the Hanover Parking Deck grand opening ceremony.

Free Dental Services

CFCC Dental Hygiene and Dental Assisting students participated in the Missions of Mercy free dental clinic held on April 26 and 27, 2012 at the Center. The event provided a variety of free dental services to hundreds of people without dental insurance.

Food Drive

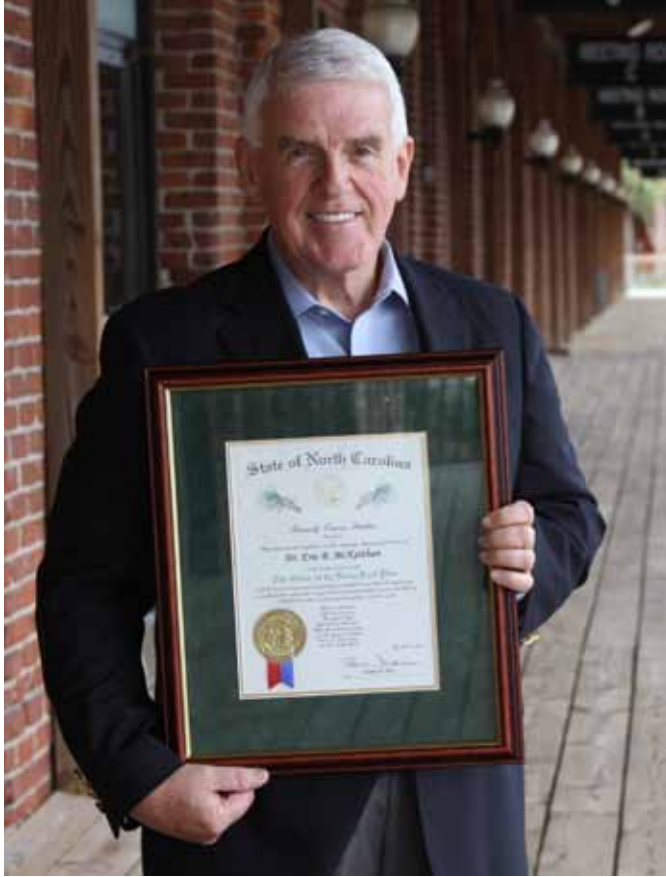

Last year, the CFCC Student Government Association collected over 1,000 cans of food for the Food Bank of Central and Eastern North Carolina.

Chemical Technology students perform free water tests for community through National Science Foundation grant

In a four week period in the spring of 2012, Cape Fear Community College Chemical Technology students performed 68 individual tests on over 200 separate water samples (13,600 total tests) that were submitted by CFCC faculty and staff and members of the general public from surrounding communities. Funded through a $150,000 grant from the National Science Foundation, the project allowed students to utilize new equipment on CFCC's campus which could detect a wide variety of minerals and contaminants. The success of the project intricately involved community participation which allowed students to be exposed to a "real-world" experience.

Presidential Transition at CFCC

After nearly two decades as the president of Cape Fear Community College, Dr. Eric B. McKeithan retired from the college on June 30, 2012. Dr. McKeithan was president of CFCC from 1994-2012. He led the college during the largest period of growth in the school's history. During his time at CFCC, annual student enrollment more than doubled. In addition, the number of academic programs increased from 33 to 78 - and the size of the facilities grew from 221,000 square feet to 1.3 million square feet. Recently, Dr. McKeithan was awarded the Order of the Long Leaf Pine for his service of more than 30 years to the state of North Carolina.

Dr. G. Frank Sells speaks at CFCC's July 2012 Graduation Ceremony. Dr. Sells served as interim president from July 1, 2012 through October 31, 2012.

Dr. Ted D. Spring selected as CFCC's new president

Dr. Ted D. Spring was selected as the fifth president of Cape Fear Community College by the CFCC Board of Trustees in August 2012. Most recently, Dr. Spring served as the president of New River Community and Technical College in West Virginia and has over four decades of experience in higher education.

Dr. Spring's professional career has for the most part been at two-year colleges; however, he has taught at both the undergraduate and graduate levels. He has over 30 years in higher education administration, serving as a chair of academic divisions, as vice president for academic affairs and as an executive vice president at two colleges.

Dr. Spring is a first generation college student and a graduate of a community college. He earned an associate in applied science degree from Adirondack Community College in New York, a bachelors of science degree from Castleton State College in Vermont, a master of education degree from Bowling Green State University, in Ohio, and his Ph.D. from the University of Maryland, in College Park, Maryland.

His first day on the job at CFCC was November 1, 2012.

CFCC Foundation Year in Review

Major accomplishments from July 1, 2011 to June 30, 2012

The CFCC Foundation raised more than $1.3 million for student scholarships and program enhancements during the 2011-12 fiscal year. Ten new endowed scholarships were established with a combined value of nearly $132,000.

Scholarships valued at approximately $370,000 were awarded to 495 CFCC students during the 2011-12 academic year.

Grants totaling more than $884,000 were submitted for funding in 2011-12 with over $325,000 received. The grants funded various projects including the purchase of radiography equipment, enrichment of the Minority Male Mentoring Initiative to increase the semester-to-semester retention rate and graduation rate among minority male students, the development of a rainwater harvesting system, and the enhancement and beautification of the entrance to CFCC's North Campus. Grants also provided funding for student scholarships, assistance to students taking certification exams to increase their opportunity to become successfully employed, programs for student veterans, and educational materials and supplies.

Randy Kibler, President and CEO of Bojangles' Famous Chicken and Biscuits, speaks at the 2012 Gift of Education Luncheon.

More than 640 guests attended the Foundation's May 2012 Gift of Education Luncheon. Approximately $225,000 was raised for scholarships and program enhancements during the event that featured keynote speaker Randy Kibler, President and CEO of Bojangles' Famous Chicken and Biscuits. Community guests were invited to view program displays, hear scholarship recipient testimonials, and learn about the mission of the college while enjoying a lunch donated and catered by Bojangles'.

CFCC's Alumni Association grew to over 1,400 members. The Alumni Council successfully held its third election and the officers remained very active throughout the academic year. Several alumni events were held, including a wine-tasting event at an alumni-owned business, an alumni night at a Wilmington Sharks game, and a pizza night at a CFCC men's basketball game. In February 2012, the association's annual bus trip to Brunswick Community College was a great success. The homecoming tradition continued for the fifth year with a reception before the last men's basketball home game of the season and a raffle for the Alumni Legacy Scholarship. In addition, the UNC Wilmington student organization for CFCC transfer students previously called "Sea Devils 2 Seahawks" merged with UNCW's Transfer Student Organization, allowing members to enjoy dual membership in the CFCC Alumni Association and forging a continued partnership with UNCW.

Give the Gift of Education. Support the CFCC Foundation.

The Cape Fear Community College Foundation exists solely to generate support for the students, faculty and academic programs of the college. Through gifts from individuals, businesses, organizations and estates, we help students fulfill their educational dreams.

CFCC students need and appreciate the support of the community. About 80% of CFCC students apply for financial assistance. Every gift – no matter how big or small – makes a difference. For more information about supporting local students, please call (910) 362-7207 or visit www.cfcc.edu/foundation.

Why did I make a planned gift to Cape Fear Community College?

"I made a gift in honor of my parents, who taught me that I could achieve my dreams through education. Planned gifts are wonderful because they reach through the ages and provide us an opportunity to help future generations of students who may need support to achieve their own dreams."

Phil Bloedorn, CFCC donor

First-Ever CFCC Foundation Golf Tournament raises $24,000 for scholarships

A chilly and misty Halloween morning did not deter more than 100 golfers from teeing off for a good cause at Cape Fear Country Club. Thirty teams sponsored by local businesses and individuals participated in the first-ever Cape Fear Community College Foundation Golf Tournament to benefit student scholarships.

Team sponsorships ranged from $1,000 to $5,000, with P&MW Holding Company as the title sponsor, BB&T and PPD as gold sponsors and over twenty-four additional silver sponsors. Thirty-six local businesses also provided hole sponsorships, and to add an element of fun, Marine Max, Parkway Volvo and Stevenson Honda provided a boat and two automobiles as hole-in-one incentives. Food and beverage sponsors included Coastal Beverage, Coca-Cola, Courtyard by Marriott/Hilton Garden Inn, Lawler Catering, Pita Delite and Wellington Benefits.

NewBridge Bank presents inaugural Bridge to Bridge Run Raises over $10,000 for CFCC scholarships

Representatives from NewBridge Bank present $10,000 check to CFCC Foundation.

Over 200 runners participated in the Inaugural CFCC Foundation/ NewBridge Bank Bridge to Bridge run/walk on Thursday, June 14, 2012. The four-mile course took participants from the Isabel Holmes Bridge to the Cape Fear Memorial Bridge through some of the most scenic areas of downtown Wilmington. The event raised over $10,000 for student scholarships.

CFCC awards ten merit scholarships

Cape Fear Community College awarded ten merit scholarships to New Hanover and Pender County high school seniors for the 2011-12 academic year. The recipients of the CFCC Merit Scholarship demonstrated academic excellence and leadership throughout their high school careers.

To be selected for a merit scholarship, a student must be a current high school senior in New Hanover or Pender County and must have applied or been approved to enroll in Cape Fear Community College.

The 2011-12 recipients were Sam Hasse, Leslie Ortego, Emily Painter, Mary Thomas, and Trevor Todd from Topsail High School; Jessie Harrell and John Lewis from Laney High School, Margaret (Megan) Knoerzer from Pender High School; Sarah Nelson who graduated from Ashley High School; and Victoria Warren from New Hanover High School.

Merit Scholars receive $900 each semester, which covers most of the costs for tuition, fees and books. Each student must maintain a 3.0 grade point average and complete twelve credit hours during the fall semester to remain eligible for the scholarship.

Student Ambassadors establish giving society to honor former CFCC president

At a luncheon on the last day of spring classes in May 2012, ten student ambassadors presented former CFCC President, Dr. Eric McKeithan, with a framed certificate that announced the creation of the CFCC Ambassador Giving Society and commemorated Dr. McKeithan's 18 years of service to CFCC students. Team members also presented him with $250 they personally donated as an initial gift to establish the society.

The funds were added to the CFCC Alumni Association Legacy Scholarship, which once fully funded, will allow CFCC alumni (including former student ambassadors) to nominate family members, or legacy students, to receive scholarship awards.

Travel with CFCC!

The Cape Fear Community College Foundation debuted an all-new leisure travel program with an October 2012 luxury cruise on the Danube River.

The first excursion was an 8-day, 7-night river cruise from Passau, Germany to Budapest, Hungary. The cruise was offered through Uniworld Boutique River Cruises, winner of the 2011 Condé Nast Traveler Reader's Choice award for "Best River Cruise Line." The voyage took place aboard the River Beatrice, which launched in March 2009 and was voted "#1 River Ship in the World" by the readers of Condé Nast. According to the Uniworld Web site, the Beatrice is "quite simply the most deluxe and comfortable ship ever to sail any European river."

Upcoming trips are planned to Ireland and Italy.

CFCC travelers Jane Sullivan and Lydia Hines enjoy the gardens of the Abbey of Melk in Austria in October 2012.

Wilmington Cape Fear Rotary Club endows scholarship fund for CFCC students

The Cape Fear Rotary Club established a $30,000 endowed scholarship fund that will provide financial support to Cape Fear Community College students. The scholarship will benefit students with financial need who have attended New Hanover County high schools. Scholarship applicants must have a minimum 2.5 grade point average, and the recipient will be selected by the Cape Fear Rotary Club scholarship committee in consultation with the CFCC Foundation office.

"Cape Fear Rotary has been a long-term supporter of Cape Fear Community College. Four of our members are past presidents of the Cape Fear Community College Board of Trustees. We have financed two scholarships for many years," said David Sweyer, club president. "The endowment is to provide scholarships for needy students, hopefully forever."

Landfall grant helps students with certification exam costs

The Cape Fear Community College Foundation recently received a grant from the Landfall Foundation to assist Health Science students with paying for certification exams. Funding from the grant will be used to assist students who are enrolled in Health Science programs by covering a portion of the cost of various certification exams for students who are unable to pay the entire amount. The grant will help many students by giving them the certifications they need to become successfully employed upon graduation.

Riverfest supports Marine Technology student scholarships

Riverfest donated $11,000 in 2012 to fund student scholarships for Cape Fear Community College Marine Technology students.

"Our hope is, with these scholarships, students who might not otherwise be able to afford their classes will be able to stay in school and complete their coursework," said Donna Worrell, Riverfest President. "We support the Marine Technology program because students are learning how to work on the water, and how to become good stewards of this precious natural resource. It's a great fit for Riverfest."

Since 1995, Riverfest has donated more than $141,000 to the CFCC Foundation. Funds have been used for scholarships, equipment, and special projects. In 2008, an endowed scholarship was established. So far, $36,000 of the donated funds has been designated for the Riverfest/Ava M. Hobbs Endowed Scholarship.

Kelly Bryant was the 2012 recipient of the Riverfest/Ava M. Hobbs Scholarship.

Campus fund drive breaks employee giving record

A record-breaking 79 percent of Cape Fear Community College faculty and staff generously donated almost $80,000 for scholarships and academic program support during the College's annual Campus Fund Drive in September 2012.

"Even in a year marked by general economic decline and no salary increases, CFCC employees have once again demonstrated their unflinching support of the students they serve," said Margaret Robison, Executive Director of the CFCC Foundation.

The theme of the 2011-12 drive, "CFCC: This is Who We Are", focused on the message that Cape Fear Community College is a family of hard-working faculty and staff that give their time and talents to support students. CFCC employees at all levels make the college a great place to work.

Support for CFCC students extends beyond classroom with Holiday Helpers program

Holiday Helpers is a program funded by generous individuals and organizations in the Wilmington community who wish to provide holiday gifts to those in need. CFCC students who demonstrate financial need can apply to be considered for the program. The CFCC Foundation worked with faculty, staff, community individuals and businesses to provide financial assistance to CFCC students and their families through the 2011 Holiday Helpers program.

A total of 139 CFCC students and 301 children received assistance and more than $16,000 was donated to the program, a 14 percent increase from 2010 donations. The money benefited students in the form of gift cards, shopping excursions with donors, scholarship funds or emergency assistance.

Thanks to the following individuals who gave to the CFCC Foundation in 2011-12 fiscal year. Their gifts allow CFCC to offer top quality programs and educate thousands of local students.
